

Leadership Transition Team Update

Aside from the Congregational meeting on Feb 5, there has not an update from the Leadership Transition Team (LTT) in quite a while. The LTT completed our church profile and narrative and submitted them to the Regional Office on February 28. They were posted on the National Search and Call bulletin board on March 8. LTT is working with the office of regional minister Joan Bell-Haynes to schedule a Search and Call Orientation training so the LTT can start the Search and Call process for our church.

Remember, the LTT formed a year ago to start the process of CAREFULLY and METHODICALLY searching for the kind of Pastor/Pastors model we as a congregation wanted. We wanted to start the process before we actually had a vacancy so that we wouldn't be scrambling and rushing to find the right pastor. We felt that we were more likely to succeed by being proactive instead of reactive.

Most of you will remember our that last summer we as a congregation decided to search for a Lead Pastor. Our profile and narrative have both reflected that as our first choice.

From the beginning, we deliberately relegated Mark and Judy into advisory roles and excluded them from the decision-making process to ensure that our decisions were from and for the congregation. They have both been very supportive of the process and are willing to help us make a successful transition. They have each met with me and want to reassure the congregation that either both or one of them will still be here to help lead us through this process until we reach a successful conclusion: a Lead Pastor on the first day of the first month that the new pastor can report to FCC of Greeley and either Mark or Judy, or maybe both or them, can participate with them in a ceremonial passing of the mantle.

After completing the Regional Office Search and Call Orientation, the LTT will serve as the Search and Call Committee. If anyone would like to help with this process, please see a member of the LTT: Bill Rusher, Debbie Berg, Jodi Hartmann, Alicia Loschen, Mike McGuire, Carla Ikenouye, Taylor Rainbolt, and Verna Recor.

A Message from Mark

“For Everything there is a Season.”

It should be no surprise to you that I find Ecclesiastes 3 a powerfully honest look at how reality is. It deals with beginnings and endings, taking hold and letting go. I am now soon to be at my time of letting go with this beloved congregation. It is time. Time for new pastoral leadership, time for new energy and time for Mark to major in “grandpa.”

I am very confident in these things: 1) This is a strong and well led congregation 2) There is a pastor whose gifts and passions will be well suited for FCC 3) I am ready to “let go and let God”.

Judi and I are of “one mind” in this process. We both are here to walk through this with until we celebrate a blessed transition.

Love, Mark

The Ultimate Expression of Love Brings Hope

-Colleen Heitman

Easter is the great gift of hope, and the promise of rebirth and new life for all who walk with Jesus the Lord. Jesus did not come to make God's love possible, but to make God's love visible.

As we come to the end of Lent, and celebrate Easter, we know God loves us. This story of hope reveals the ultimate expression of love:

"He felt the sand of a dusty road, the growl of a hungry stomach, and the soft fibers of a warm blanket. He heard the phrase, 'I love you son,' as his mom embraced his shoulders. He tasted the soft bread as he conversed with good friends. Tears wet his cheeks when his friends lost their brother. And he felt the sting of rejection from people who hated him.

Jesus. Fully human. All the feelings, all the emotions – Jesus experienced them.

This is the part of the Christian story that is mind-boggling. God could have just told us His message but instead he showed us. God sent his son to walk in our world with us. Jesus showed us how to love big, live fully, find real joy and commune intimately with God. Jesus offers us an incredible exchange in our lives. He exchanged His sinlessness for our sinfulness, He exchanged His righteousness for our unrighteousness. He exchanged His death for our life. When we receive Christ, we are free forever."

-Extravagant Hope Donely, Anderson, Skarp

Celebrate the Resurrection this Easter and remember that it is His ultimate love that brings hope.

Wrapped in Love Ministry!

Diana Laws is spearheading a new ministry to sew wraps for babies in the NCMC Neonatal ICU who need physical therapy. She has received a grant from the Greeley Interfaith Association to purchase fabric for 100 wraps, but needs people who can help her sew the wraps. The pattern is easy, but a serger is best for this type of material. Contact Diana if you would like to help wrap these precious babies in love!

There is a bassinette in the narthex for your donations. The items will be blessed at the Daughters' Tea on May 13 and delivered to NCMC and GIA the week of Mothers' Day.
